Vulcan Temptress at it again – with two high ranking fleet members

By The Editor

Footage of Admiral Mackenzie and the Vulcan Mystery Woman, now revealed to be Captain T'Lar has been unearthed.

The two of them were recorded in a tender moment at a recent mission to the NSC base in the Lestyre system. Our reporter showed the footage to Fleet Captain

Kehlan. Afterwards, he commented:

“She thanked me for the footage, and then told me I should hope to never find myself in between them.”

Also of note was that Captain T'Lar was seen in a similar clinch with Stannick, a fellow Vulcan and important fleet official.

Stannick is the mate of the resident mercenary N'Sal. When shown this footage, N'Sal smiled sweetly and began to sharpen her knife. The reporter decided not to press the issue.

Ferengi bookmaker Omag is giving odds on who will get hold of the Vulcan first.

Romulan Rampage!

During the same goodwill visit to the Lestyre system, a Starfleet officer was captured by a Romulan mercenary.

Security footage is grainy, however, the officer was rescued by a special task force co-ordinated by Captain Jean Luc

Picard. “My officer was returned to me safely” Admiral Mackenzie said. “And I’m willing to drop the matter there. However, I may have to promote Captain Corbus, just to keep an eye on him.”

The Romulan escaped custody, however in a docking ring on the local space port, there was an altercation between a shuttle pilot and a “ticked off Romulan lady.” The argument seemed to stem from the fact that he had parked his shuttle in a restricted zone despite the fact he didn’t have Code Blue Authorisation. The other pilot’s shuttle has not been seen since.

Officer Promoted

There was celebration at Lestyre as Lieutenant Adam Daniels was given a promotion to the rank of Commander in recognition for services rendered to the fleet and Starbase 24, including diplomatic duty in the ByByC nebula, announcing the conference to representatives in the local sector.

“Over the last year, he has been an asset to the group and has consistently performed above and beyond the call of duty.” Fleet Captain Kehlan said.

Daniels later told the Frontera Times “I am humbled by this honour, and I intend to continue to do the Fleet Proud just as much, if not more, now that I have this third pip on my collar.

Interspecies Sports Exchange Shelved

Sports fans across the galaxy were left reeling as the Interspecies Sports Exchange closed its doors. The argument is believed to centre around the fact that helmets were going to become standard issue during the Klingon game of “Death to the Opposition.”

It was suggested that a few minor changes be made to the rules, including shorter game periods, helmets for non-Klingon players and scrapping the “Four point death” rule.

There was much debate and discussion over this development, with meetings between the ISE officials lasting for upwards of 72 hours. However, there was no compromise and the Klingon delegation withdrew from the proceedings.

The Klingons did express a willingness to return to the negotiating table however, with their suggestions for modifications to the Terran game of Cricket.

What is the Kehlan Manouever?

Among Starbase 24 officers, there has been discussion of a unique tactical strategem known as the “Kehlan Manover”.

Despite the frequent discussion of this, no record can be found in Starfleet logs.

“Its a myth” said professor Horax of Starfleet academy. “Our learners should pay more attention to exisitng strategems, and not focus on scuttlebutt.”

Fleet Admiral Mackenzie commented. “On the contrary, the Kehlan manouever is an essential tactic. All cadets, and officers should learn from it, it sets a new standard in Starbase evacuation”

Our reporter went to ask fleet Captain Kehlan about this manouever. We expect a full report by the time his jaw heals.

She later went to demonstrate a version on the admiral.
